KEEFE AND WELCH HIT HARD AND OFTEN.

AN EASY VICTORY FOR THE BOSTONS-NUMER-OUS ERRORS BY THE VISITORS. Boston, Aug. 20.-The Bostons defeated the New-Yorks to-day with the greatest ease, in fact the contest was so one-sided as to be robbed of all interest, ex-tept that taken in the slugging of the Bostons. Keefe started in to pitch for New-York, but at the end of the third inning, after Boston had made six bits and four runs off him, he retired and Welch was called in. It no difference. Boston still kept up its pound ing, batting Welch harder than Keefe, and winding up in the ninth inning by four singles and a triple. Whitney was the only New-Yorker who hit Radbourn's ourves. The batting of Brouthers and Ganzel Hardie Richardson's work in left field was excellent. The fielding of the visitors was wretched. The attendance was 9,084. The score was fore a United States Commissioner.

AFTERWARD CHANGED HER MIND. Paul Haimant, a Frenchman, who was arrested over a month ago on a charge of complicity in the theft of a large sum of money from the Eank of France but was quickly discharged, was rearrested yesterday. He was enjoying a bath in the surf at Coney Island, when Deputy Marshal Bernhard touched his arm and ordered him to put on his clothes and go with him be-

Haimant, it is charged, was the instigator of the theft of 165,000 francs committed by Henry A. Nolle who had been for Afteen years an assistant eashier in the Bank of France. Mrs. Nelle was a gay woman who frequented the races, and Haimant and Alexander Plau were among those who were most frequently in company with her. Mrs. Nolle and her hus-band made partial confessions and Mrs. Nolle said that Plau had received 58,000 francs of the stolen money. She insisted, however, that Haimant had nothing to do with the theft and had only accompanied steamer La Champagne, on July 20. The woman, after her arrival in France, made a fuller confession

He will be taken before the commissioner again on Saturday. Halmant at the time of his former arrest declared that he had little money, but he has been living expensively since his release. Plau, who is also charged with complicity in the theft, has thus far escaped arrest. The French officials believe that he has a large part of the stolen money, and a man answering his description had, a short time ago, 30,000 francs deposited in an uptown safety vanit, but the officers who investigated the case discovered that the money had been removed just before they visited the safe deposit company's office.

KILLED IN A DANCE HALL,

sherman Porter, a negro who had a bad reputation as a fighter and wife-beater, and was commonly known in Thompson-st. as "Blackhawk," was stabled fatally by William Ball, in the dance-hall over the basement restaurant at No. 137 Bleecker-st., early yesterday norning. Ball and Porter were members of the Gorham Club, an association of young colored men of sporting habits. Both also belonged to the "Four-in-Hand Quartet," a band of colored singers who have given performances in New-England towns recently Ball has been the leader and basso of the quartet The club had a dance in the hall on Monday night, and many Thompson-st. belles were invited. Heer was carried in from a shop near the hall, and the dancers drank freely until after midnight.

About 1 a. m., Ball and Porter were indulging in rude horse-play and Porter became angry. "I want the Navy Yard yesterday. The orders are for her to go to Newport as soon as the work on her beats is finished. This will probably be early next week. his own knife and drove the sharp blade straight int Porter's heart. Porter staggered out of the dance hall. apported by Stella Brown and Susan Craig, young colored women with whom he had been dancing. walked only a few steps and gasped: "Let me down to rest." The women laid him on the sidewalk and h died there in a few minutes.

In the hall several of Porter's friends had drawn their razors, but Ball jumped frem a window into the rear yard. Policeman O'Hara caught Ball in the cellar of the building next door and locked him up. At the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday the prisoner was held to await the result of a coroner's investigation. Porter lived in Downing-st. He had an old mother living in Nashville, Tenna. and she frequently sent money to him. Information of his death was sent to her yesterday. was sent to her yesterday.

A BIG OIL FIRM STOPS BUSINESS.

PAGENSTECHER & CO. WILL MAKE NO NEW CONTRACTS FOR A TIME-SURMISE

OF A PARTNERSHIP DISPUTE.

The export petroleum trade has been surprised at the suspension of business operations by the wellknown firm of Pagenstecher & Co., at No. 49 Beaver at. A few days ago the firm stopped loading two vessels in this port, which it had chartered, and yesterday, in response to inquirtes which had been started by this fact, the following official statement was given not by Frank Von Buren, one of the partners; "Our accounts with certain parties who we have business with are being adjusted, and in order to ering about such adjustment we are not making new contracts. If satisfactorily adjusted, we shall unquestionably go along as heretofore."

The statement did little more than set the tongue of cossip wagging with greater freedom than before. Dozens of rumous got affoat late in the day, but none of them could be traced to any substantial oundation. Disagreements with the Standard Oil Company and suggestions of unfortunate speculations no information could be obtained beyond the state ment already quoted. The firm has made no default on any of its obligations and the trade expressed no solicitude as to the financial strength of the house. It is an old concern, having been in existence under several changes in official title practically since the export business in petroleum had its existence. financial stability is unquestioned. Yet these facts only added to the wonder that the house should stop operations at this juncture in the petroleum trade Market transactions were scouted as the reason because the refined business has been prosperous and because the refined business has been prosperous and crude oil prices have not favored in their recent course any operators except on the built side. The theory was suggested in some quarters that the "adjustment of accounts" spoken of in the statement of the firm might involve a partnership dispute. A brother of A Pagenstecher, the head of the firm, hag been a special partner. The partnership is said to have expired on August 1, and the special partner is now on his way here from Europe. The most popular theory was that the stopping of operations by the firm was pending his arrival.

THE FIVE CONDEMNED MEN STILL COOL The condemned murderers in the Tombs now have only two days more to live, and although appeals on heir behalf are to be made to the Governor to-day, no ne seems to think that the sentence of any one of them will be commuted. It is announced also that Justice Barrett will give his decision this morning apon the application for a new trial for Giblin, but the general opinion yesterday was that this also would be adverse to the prisoner. Giblin has been so hopeful that it is feared the reaction may cause him to break that it is feared that and the denied, but all the others are cool. They will all die in the Roman Catholic faith. Giblin and Carolin sent long letters to the press yesterlay, denouncing the injustice of their fate. Giblin says he fired at Mrs. Goelz in self-defence, while Carolin declares that his mistress killed herself.

It Reigel's "day off," and he was out enjoying him-He went into Farrell's shop, and while at the ree luncheon counter he knocked several dishes off into the floor. When remonstrated with he tried to other way of keeping him out, Goode selzed a club and whacked Rege over the head with it. The in-jured policeman was taken to the New-York Hospital, percetive Brett arrested Goode, who was remanded at the Jefferson Market Court.
